Employees in the accounts of health personnel are classified as a number of employments. People with several employments in different health care providers were counted more than once.

Full-time equivalents indicate the number of employees working full-time. A full-time equivalent corresponds to an employee working full-time.

Data sources: Health Economic Accounting of the federal states (Laender); Health Economic Accounting of the federation (Bund); based on data from: December 2018